EPIC STORY OF CHINESE HEROISM

JAPANESE GOVERNMENT IN CONFUSION

Too Many Heads: Too Much Militarism

By Y. C. LEUNG

The following is the continuation of the article, under the same headings as above, which appeared in our issue of yesterday:—

The weakness of the Japanese Lower House implies the unique status of the Japanese Cabinet, according to the Constitution, it is not responsible to the Legislature, but to the people as a whole. It is responsible to the Emperor directly, because the Cabinet Ministers are the servants of the Emperor only. They are appointed or dismissed at the option of the Emperor. Apart from military affairs, and subject to the veto of Imperial ordinances, they are the real executives for the Emperor. They may pay no attention to the attitude of the Lower House, if they insist on rushing through their proposals and bills. There is no collective responsibility in the Cabinet, each of the Ministers being held individually responsible to the Emperor. The Emperor is but a coordinator among his colleagues. His superior power over other ministers lies in the fact he is the only minister who can address the Emperor on behalf of other ministers.

Though there has been a party complexion in the Cabinet recently, yet the choice of the Prime Minister is not made according to the domination of the majority party in the Diet. Only the Emperor, the elder statesmen, and the militarists have the final say in selecting the Cabinet. Moreover, the influence of the militarists in selecting the cabinet is the most predominant of all. On more than one occasion the Prime Minister failed to form a Cabinet just because the warlords refused to nominate their candidate to take up the portfolios of War and Navy.

TROOPS FLOAT MINE TOWARDS JAPANESE FLAGSHIP IDZUMO IN PITCH DARKNESS KILLED BY COMRADES ASHORE WHEN DOOMED

Explosion Throws Augusta Seamen From Bunks

SHANGHAI, SEPTEMBER 29: A STORY OF EPIC HEROISM LIES BEHIND THE ATTEMPT TO BLOW UP THE JAPANESE FLAGSHIP IDZUMO EARLY THIS MORNING. STARTING IN PITCH DARKNESS FROM A WHARF AT FOOTUNG, BELONGING TO A BRITISH OWNED COMPANY, A SCORE OF CHINESE SOLDIERS, SOME IN SAMPANS AND SOME SWIMMING, FLOATED A MINE TOWARDS THE IDZUMO AND BEGAN STEALTHILY CUTTING THE STEEL NET ROUND THE WARSHIP. DAYBREAK REVEALED THEM TO THE WARSHIP'S LOOKOUT. CHINESE SOLDIERS ASHORE, SEEING THAT THEIR COMRADES WERE DOOMED ANYHOW, EXPLODED THE MINE BY CABLE KILLING ALL THE SOLDIERS IN THE WATER. A WATER GEYSER SHOT 150 FEET IN THE AIR. A HOLE WAS RIPPED IN THE NET ROUND THE JAPANESE FLAGSHIP WHICH WAS SHOWERED WITH SHRAPNEL. MANY OF THE CREW ABOARD THE UNITED STATES FLAGSHIP AUGUSTA, BERTHED IN THE RIVER HALF A MILE AWAY, WERE THROWN FROM THEIR BUNKS BY THE EXPLOSION.—REUTER.

Furious fighting raged all day long around Shanghai. The Chinese say that all Japanese attempts to drive spearheads into their lines have failed. The Japanese, however, claim an advance along part of the Chapel and Kiangwan sector, saying that they reached the section of the Shanghai-Woosung Railway. At 6.50 p.m. Chinese artillery at Footung started a night struggle with Japanese warships by trying to shell the Japanese airfield at Yangtsepo. Japanese warships lying in the darkness of the river responded vigorously, pouring Footung with a quick succession of projectiles. The roar of the guns echoed and re-echoed throughout the city.—REUTER.

Peking, September 29: After severe fighting the Japanese claim to have captured Juyueh Pass in the inner great wall of Shansi giving access to the Taiyuan plain. A report from Paoingfu states that three Chinese planes appeared over Hsiao on September 27 when the Japanese were attacking the town which is fifty miles south of Paoingfu. The Japanese claim that one of the planes was shot down just north of Hsiao.—REUTER.

HONGKEW SECTOR ACTIVITY

Chinese Deny Using Dum-Dum Bullets

Contrary to expectations Nanking passed a comparatively quiet day yesterday, the Japanese Air Force not carrying out any of their dastardly raids on the civilian population—raids which have for over a week become a regular feature of the Sino-Japanese conflict.

On the other hand, however, there was considerable activity in the Hongkow sector where the Chinese Air Force claims to have scored several direct hits on the Japanese Military Headquarters and an ammunition depot, causing considerable damage.

The Chinese military authorities state that the enemy launched a heavy artillery attack on all their positions in Paoshan but it is claimed that the defenders fought so well that the Japanese made no headway whatever. Towards evening a hand-to-hand fight ensued and as has been proved so many times since the hostilities began, the Chinese proved to be much better at this particular type of war.

STILL HOLDING GROUND

Reviewing the situation at the end of the day's hostilities, a Chinese military spokesman said that a survey of the positions held by the defenders showed that they are still holding their ground and so firmly are they entrenched, and so solid their defences that they feel confident the Japanese, when they launch their next heavy offensive, will meet with not only severe resistance but possibly crushing defeat.

Continuing, the spokesman took the opportunity to emphatically deny the reports, spread by the Japanese, that the Chinese forces were using dum-dum bullets.

According to the official, the Japanese were the real offenders in this respect and it was also stated that the Japanese are now spreading these malicious reports so that they will be able to justify the use of these bullets, by their own troops, in the very near future.

A spokesman for General Han Fu-chu said that the Press reports regarding a visit by Major-General Dolhara to General Han, with the object of "sounding the real position," were entirely false and unfounded. General Han wished it to be reiterated that the whole country was now united against Japanese aggression and no amount of Japanese cunning and treachery will be able to break this unity.

SHORTAGE OF MEDICAL SUPPLIES

DIRECT RESULT OF THE WAR

China Asks Aid From League

Geneva, Sept. 29: A fresh and horrifying aspect of the war in China was impressed upon the Committee for technical collaboration in China when a meeting to-day faced the Chinese Government's memorandum drawing attention to the need for medical, sanitary and technical help.

As a direct result of the war there was an acute shortage of medical and sanitary supplies and there was a grave danger of the spread of cholera and small-pox.

In accepting responsibility for grappling with the situation the Chinese Government will protect neighbours against risks inherent in the spread of epidemics by the movement of millions of the population but requests further League help to which the Chinese Government is willing to contribute $180,000 in Chinese dollars.—

SURPRISE RAID ON WUHU

Nanking, Sept. 29: Fifteen Japanese planes rained a hundred bombs on Wuhu, a commercial port above Nanking yesterday, starting two huge fires which consumed whole blocks of closely packed houses. The casualties are unknown but is believed to be very heavy. The bombing caused a surprise as the Japanese had listed Wuhu as a safety zone for foreign officials. It will be recalled that the American Ambassador, Mr. Nelson Johnson originally intended to go there. The Chinese claim that their pursuers intercepted and shot down two of the Japanese planes which visited Nanking yesterday.—

PROF. CHANG TELLS OF TIENTSIN BOMBING

London, Sept. 29.

An allegation that the Japanese bombardment of Tientsin was carried out when not a single Chinese combatant was in the city was made by an eye-witness, Professor Chang Peng-chun in his address before the London Free Church Ministers to-day. He said that when the bombardment failed to destroy Nankai University the Japanese troops tried to set fire to it with oil. Finally they blew up the building with dynamite.

The meeting was unanimous in expressing their horror and indignation of Japanese bombing of open Chinese cities and are calling the Government and League to take immediate steps to prevent the continuance of these atrocities by any means possible.—

MAJOR GIVES EVIDENCE

Revenue Officer Charged

ALLEGATIONS DENIED

The trial of Harry Richard Major, aged 24, Revenue Officer, who is charged with accepting a bribe of $200 from Li Yee on board the s.s. Wo Ping Yee on June 23, continued before the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor, at the Criminal Sessions yesterday.

The prosecution was conducted by Mr. M. J. Abbott, Assistant Crown Solicitor, whilst the accused is represented by the Hon. Mr. Leo D'Almada e Castro, Jnr., instructed by Mr. D. B. Evans, of Messrs. Johnston, Stokes and Master.

The jury empanelled for the case are Messrs. A. H. Delcourt (Foreman), A. Krilovsky, M. M. Lum, H. A. da Roza, V. Olafinsky, Li Tak-wah and R. L. D. Noronha.

CONCLUSION OF CROWN CASE
Li Yee, who was alleged to have tendered the bribe, declared that he had no knowledge of how the wolf-ram ore was brought to the ship as he did not supervise the loading, though he stated that 100 bags of the ore were loaded on board the vessel at Hoihow without the knowledge of the purser or any member of the comprador's staff.

The Crown's case concluded with the evidence of Lo Ngan, No. 1 cooile of the steamer, who admitted that he meant to keep quiet if nothing should happen, aware that the ore was illegally brought on board.

ACCUSED'S EVIDENCE
In the witness-box, Major testified that he served in the East Surrey Regiment for seven and a half years until March, 1925 when he was discharged on his own request with the rank of Corporal. In 1925 he joined the Union Insurance Society of Canton as house-keeper, leaving on his own accord in 1932 to join the Imports and Exports Department as a revenue officer.

On June 23, about 5.35 p.m., while he was on board the s.s. Wo Ping Yee C.R.O. 80 told him there was some wolf-ram ore unmanifested. He went to see the cargo, and whilst looking at it, C.R.Os. 91 and 70 came along. C.R.O. 91 was ordered to get the ship's manifest. C.R.O. 91 returned with the purser, with a piece of paper, on which was written in English, "Wolf-ram ore 101 bags."

DENIAL OF BARGAINING
Accused further testified that he examined the document and found it was false. He told C.R.O. 91 of this, and the latter then said, "The purser wants to give you $40. He is a good friend of mine." Witness told him to go away, but C.R.O. 91 asked him again to give the purser a chance as he was a very good friend of his. After waiting for a while, he said "All right," and C.R.O. 91 and the purser then left.

Accused denied his entering the comprador's office, "although he went near it to give instructions to some of the C.R.Os. there to proceed with the search of the ship."

On receiving the information that the Tai Po Sek junk had just arrived, he left the Wo Ping Yee for the purpose of boarding her. No contraband was found, and he then returned to the office, after instructing C.R.O. 80 to phone him when the s.s. Sui Tai arrived from Macao.

After waiting for about an hour in the office he was informed, by a phone message, of the arrival of Sui Tai and accordingly went to the Wing Lok Wharf where she was berthed.

On the wharf, C.R.O. 91 beckoned him to a room, where he handed him $100. He was surprised at this as when he decided to let the purser off, he did not expect to receive any money. He asked C.R.O. 91 for the reason, and received the reply that the purser wanted to give him the money, which he pocketed.

Major went on to say that it was not true that there had been considerable bargaining on the Wo Ping Yee as to the amount required nor was it correct that he had been inside the comprador's office and the purser's cabin. It was also not true that he was handed $200.

Hearing was adjourned till 10 a.m. to-day.

HEROIN PILLS HAUL

Colonial Treasurer Explains Proposed Loan

YESTERDAY'S LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL MEETING

AT A MEETING OF THE HONG KONG LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL HELD IN THE COUNCIL CHAMBER YESTERDAY AFTERNOON, H.E. THE OFFICER ADMINISTERING THE GOVERNMENT, MR. N. L. SMITH, PRESIDING, THE HON. THE COLONIAL TREASURER MOVED A NUMBER OF FINANCIAL RESOLUTIONS, AS PUBLISHED IN YESTERDAY'S "DAILY PRESS," ALL OF WHICH WERE ADOPTED.

MOVING THE RESOLUTIONS THE COLONIAL TREASURER, THE HON. MR. S. CAINE, SAID:

There are a number of Resolutions in my name relating to Loan Expenditure and as they are closely interconnected I propose, with your permission, to address the Council on all of them together.

First, authority is required for variations in the expenditure under the Hong Kong Dollar Loan Ordinance. On May 26 last this Council approved a re-allocation of the funds available under that Ordinance and the advance from surplus balances during 1937 of certain sums to be spent on the works specified in that allocation.

EXPENDITURE UNDER-ESTIMATED

It now appears that the expenditure on the Shing Mun Gorge Dam was then under-estimated and the provision then made will be substantially exceeded. The revised figures are given in Appendix VI (b) to the Draft Estimates for 1938 already laid before Council. The principal reason for the excess is that receipts from the sale of plant, which are credited to the loan funds, were originally estimated at a figure which is now unlikely to be reached.

It is not yet possible to give final figures because all the plant has not yet been sold, but it is necessary to obtain authority from the Council for the expenditure which has actually to be met this year.

REDUCTIONS IN ESTIMATES

The total cost is now put at $8,800,000 less receipts from sale of plant $200,000, giving a net expenditure of $8,600,000. Net expenditure in 1937 is estimated at $337,769.28 on the assumption that all the credits expected will be received in this year. There is thus an increase in the net expenditure on the Dam of $275,000.

On the other hand there are reductions in the estimates for certain other parts of the Shing Mun Valley Water Works and for the Stanley Gaoi. These total $139,000 and go some way to meet the excess on the Gorge Dam. The balance of that excess, $136,000, can be found by transfer from the funds intended for the Central Market, which will thus be reduced to $889,000. This exhausts the funds available under the 1934 Loan.

RECOMMENDED FOR BANISHMENT

A bag-snatcher appeared before Mr. S. F. Balfour yesterday at the Central Magistracy charged with snatching a bag from Mrs. Grant. The defendant pleaded guilty but stated that he did not open the bag.

The defendant came behind her and took her purse from an open basket which she was carrying. The defendant was seen by a constable who chased him and eventually caught him in Chater Road. The defendant had just arrived from Canton. His Worship sentenced him to six weeks' imprisonment and recommended him for banishment.

Chan Cheuk Hung, 21, unemployed, appeared before Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday on a charge of larceny of a piece of wood from a hut at Boundary Street on Sept. 28.

WOMAN PICKPOCKET CAUGHT

A Chinese woman, Ku Kam-ping appeared before Mr. S. F. Balfour yesterday at the Central Magistracy charged with stealing $23 from a Chinese male at Central Theatre.

It was stated after the defendant had pleaded guilty that on Sept. 27 the complainant was purchasing tickets at a booking stall at the Theatre. The defendant was seen by a district watchman going up to the complainant and extracted the above amount from his back pocket. The defendant had four previous convictions of the same nature and the magistrate sentenced her to four months' imprisonment with hard labour, and, at the expiration of the prison term a recommendation for being under Police supervision will be made.

STEALING BRASS TAPS

Appearing before Mr. W. Schofield yesterday at the Central Magistracy, Pang Chi, aged 31, was charged with larceny of a brass water tap valued at five dollars from Ming Yuen Street. The defendant pleaded guilty. Sergeant Witterott stated that on Sept. 28, about 10.15 a.m. the defendant was seen coming out of Johnston Road in a suspicious manner. The defendant was stopped and the tap was found in the left jacket pocket. When questioned the defendant stated that he had stolen the tap from the above address. The defendant was taken back to the place and the watchman identified the tap as the property of the Treasury (Hong Kong Government). The defendant was fined $50 with the alternative of six weeks' imprisonment with hard labour.

CIGARETTE ENDS AS AN EXCUSE

Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday on a charge of attempted larceny of an electric bulb at No. 126 Pei Ho Street on September 28. Defendant pleaded not guilty saying he was reaching for a packet of cigarette ends which he had hidden under the lamp at the entrance of 126 Pei Ho Street.

NEW FLAVOURS FOR SANDWICHES

There's a right and a wrong way to make sandwiches. They need not be the dry, stodgy affairs they are to some folk. To-day we are going to talk about the right way and how to make the fillings appetising and varied.

Bread one day old is most suitable for sandwiches, as it then cuts to the best advantage. If you are going to cut off the crusts they need not be wasted.

Use them up in bread puddings, or try frying them with the breakfast bacon. They're popular this way.

Don't spoil the flavour of the butter by melting it. Cream it and will taste good and be smooth to spread.

Dip the breadknife in hot water frequently; it will cut better.

If the sandwiches are not required at once, cover them with a cloth wrung out in cold water.

Here are suggestions for appetising fillings for picnic sandwiches.

BEEF & HORSE RADISH

Hungry folk will like this piquant beef filling. Shred the roast beef and mix with a little horseradish cream. Spread on buttered bread, place some shredded lettuce on top, then form into a sandwich with another slice of bread.

HAM & TOMATO

The ever-popular ham sandwich will not be dry if prepared in this way.

Mix together a cupful of minced ham, 1 teaspoonful of chopped parsley, a pinch of pepper, the juice of a small onion, a few drops of lemon juice, and half a cupful of margarine.

Spread on rounds of buttered bread, cover with rings of tomatoes, then smear with mayonnaise. Form into sandwiches with unbuttered bread.

MUTTON & MINT

A savoury summer filling. This is extra good if a few green peas are added in season.

Mince the cold cooked mutton finely, add a cupful of cooked green peas and a tablespoonful of mint sauce.

Spread on thin buttered bread, add a pinch of salt, then place another piece of buttered bread on the top.

SALMON & CUCUMBER

Delightful on a warm day. Flake the contents of a small tin of salmon, season with pepper, salt, and a few drops of lemon juice. Add a chopped hard-boiled egg and two tablespoonfuls of chopped cucumber. Moisten with mayonnaise.

EGG & WATERCRESS

The fresh flavour of watercress partners well with egg.

Mash two hard-boiled eggs, and combine with two tablespoonfuls of mayonnaise. Chop a bunch of well-washed watercress, and add to the mixture.

Spread thickly between slices of buttered bread.

SAVOURY SARDINES

Equal parts of sardines, cucumber and tomato, mixed with a chopped, hard-boiled egg and seasoned with lemon juice, salt and pepper, make a savoury filling.

Add a little cream of sweetened tinned milk and spread on thin buttered bread.

Another nutty filling is sweetened with wholesome honey.

Mix four tablespoonfuls of honey with a tablespoonful of lemon juice, and stir in a tablespoonful of chopped nuts. Spread on buttered bread.

IF

the claims made are proved a fallacy? Would you buy that article a second time? While advertising is a powerful force in educating as to the uses, merits or money saving advantages of a product, the people are the judges when they make their first purchase. "Delivering the goods" is what they demand, and the scrap heap of failures is piled with goods that could not stand the test of public judgment. 'ASPRO' messages are carefully planned to prove what 'ASPRO' can do to alleviate pain and suffering, and the reason of its success throughout the civilised world is simple, because it fulfils all claims made for it. Its purity is its safety, and its quick action the healing service humanity appreciates. 'ASPRO' conforms to the standard of purity laid down by the British Pharmacopoeia (the guiding authority of the Medical Profession), and the 15 uses enumerated below make it an invaluable quick first-aid emergency in every home.

Dear Sirs,
I have been suffering from Rheumatism and Rheumatoid Arthritis for 12 to 14 years. I have taken a course of your 'ASPRO' Tablets—three after each meal—and often, when in pain, have taken an extra dose before going to bed. I obtained very great relief from this treatment; in fact, I do not know how I could have continued to move about without 'ASPRO'. The pain has gradually improved, and now I find I need to take 'ASPRO' only occasionally. I can confidently recommend 'ASPRO' to all sufferers from rheumatism. (Sgd.) A. H. BURNS.

JAPANESE BOMBARD PAOSHAN ROAD

Shanghai, Sept. 29: The Japanese land, sea and air forces, launched a joint attack on the Chinese positions along Paoshan Road in Chapei late yesterday afternoon but were unable to break the Chinese resistance.

A Japanese marine detachment moved cautiously from Jukong Road and Canton Road as warships in the Whangpoo opened a barrage to cover the advance. At the same time 10 planes circled overhead and rained their deadly missiles on the Chapei area.

The Chinese entrenched along the main road in Chapei held to their positions stubbornly and mowed down the Japanese marines with machine-guns as soon as the invaders appeared. In the open. After a two-hour encounter the Japanese were driven back with 20 killed and scores injured.—Central News.

U.S. SOLDIERS WHO DIED IN BRITAIN

Memorial Chapel Unveiled

In the green, sunlit sanctuary of Brookwood Cemetery, Britain and the United States shared in a solemn act of remembrance to the 568 American soldiers and sailors who died in England from 1917 to 1918, and who lie buried here.

The occasion—the dedication of the Memorial Chapel in the American Military Cemetery—brought members of the American Battle Monuments Commission together on a platform for the third time during the past fortnight, for they have just arrived in this country after dedicating similar memorials in France and Flanders.

The American Ambassador, Mr. R. W. Bingham, gave an introductory address, which he eulogised those of his fellow-countrymen whose lives had ended in England during the War.

Speaking on behalf of the British Government, Mr. Duff Cooper, First Lord of the Admiralty, emphasised how, in the last War, the two great branches of the English-speaking race fought side by side for the first time.

"In an uncertain world, where so much is fluid and so little fixed, there is one thing of which we can feel serenely confident, and that is the good relations which exist between Great Britain and the United States," he said.

GERMAN PLANE FOUND

Kabul, Sept. 27.
After having disappeared for four weeks, while on a flight from Amul and Suchow, to Kabul, the giant German Lufthansa plane "Rudolf von Thine", in charge of Air Captain Untucht, and carrying the Director General of the Lufthansa, Freiherr von Gablenz and the wireless mechanic Kirchhoff, arrived safely in Kabul, all those on board being well.

The plane, it was stated, had been compelled to undertake an emergency landing near Chotan in Sinkiang. Here the plane was confiscated and the inmates arrested by the Tungus. They were not even allowed to communicate by wireless with Kabul. Ultimately the airman succeeded in regaining their freedom, and proceeded to Kabul.

The plane had carried out observation flights from Kabul to Suchow, in order to establish whether the projected regular flight from Berlin via Turkey and Afghanistan to China would be possible.—"Hankow News Service."

THEODORA GOES WILD

"Theodora Goes Wild," a rollicking Columbia production which serves to introduce Irene Dunne to motion picture fans in her first comedy assignment, will be shown for the first time at the King's Theatre starting to-day.

Supported by an exceptionally strong cast, Miss Dunne is permitted to run fancy through a sprightly tale of a small girl who wins her big city man in a big city. Melvyn Douglas appears opposite Miss Dunne in the leading male role, with Thomas Mitchell, Thurston Hall, Rosalind Keith, Spring Byington, Elizabeth Riden and Margaret McWade rounding out the cast.

Irene Dunne in "Theodora Goes Wild" showing at the King's Theatre.

ARE WE CIVILIZED?

Once in a long while there comes to the screen a production that, through its inherent dramatic power, timeliness of subject, and unusual handling of film material, makes it significant.

Such a picture is "Are We Civilized?" the Edwin Carewe production presented by Raspin Productions, Inc., which is showing at the Majestic Theatre. Here is drama of to-day, of yesterday, of all time, based on a theme that is as old as civilization itself—the inalienable right of Man to govern his own actions, to express himself freely, in speech and in writing.

That distinguished actor of stage and screen, William Farnum, does a magnificent piece of work as Franklin, Sr., head of a world-news syndicate, the central character in this dramatic epic. He is ably supported by Anita Louise and LeRoy Mason who supply the love interest, and Frank McGlynn of "Abraham Lincoln" fame as the Chief of the Censorship Bureau.

The story of "Are We Civilized?" is an original by Harold Sherman, who has turned out a script that deals humanly and grippingly with a big theme.

REHEARSING AT 79

Mr. Aymer Maude, classic translator of Tolstoy's works is having his first practical experience of the English stage. He is supervising rehearsals of "The Live Corpse" or "Reparation" which the Southend Repertory Company is producing.

This is the first production of a Tolstoy play in England since 1919, when Mr. Henry Ainley played Barbara Read has a leading role in "Make Way for To-morrow," now showing at the Queen's Theatre.

MAKE WAY FOR TO-MORROW

Vina Delmar, author of the best-sellers, "Bad Girl", "The Marriage Racket" and other best-sellers of modern youth and its problems, brings a powerful, provocative and highly entertaining story of American family life to the screen in "Make Way for To-morrow," the drama which is showing at the Queen's Theatre to-day.

"Make Way for To-morrow" is the story of revolt between the generations. Not only does it present the case of a girl in her teens, daughter of a modern bridge playing mother who hasn't the time to sympathize with and understand her daughter, but it also turns a frank and searching light upon the relationship which exists between the generation represented by the mother and the generation represented by the mother's parents. In this it is an important motion picture with a real message despite its light-hearted humour, gaiety and genuine "homespun" qualities.

ROYAL FILM FAN

I referred recently to the partiality of the King and Queen for private showings of films at Balmoral, Sandringham and Buckingham Palace, writes a Home correspondent.

"Undoubtedly the most ardent 'film fan' among crowned heads, however, is the King of Italy. He is also one of the six leading authorities on numismatics, and has produced volume after volume of annotated catalogues of his private collection, which is probably the finest in the world.

On top of all this he likes to see every big new film as it comes out. At certain times of the year he averages one film a night at the Villa Savoja, his house outside Rome, which he normally uses in preference to his official residence, the Quirinal.

the chief part in this play in London.

Mr. Maude, a small, bearded man, now in his eightieth year, went to Russia at the age of sixteen, taught English in Moscow, remained there twenty-three years.

ARGUED FOR AN HOUR

He became an intimate friend of Tolstoy and remembers vividly their first meeting.

Maude had just read "What Then Shall We Do?" disagreed with the author's conclusions and had the temerity to tell him so.

Tolstoy, instead of snubbing him sat down and argued with him for more than an hour while the rest of the company were listening to music.

50,000 MORE SPINSTERS WILL BE WANTED

The future is rosy for the girl prepared to wait six years before becoming a bride. In 1943 the marriage market will welcome her with open arms. There'll be such a shortage of spinsters then that she'll be able to pick and choose.

Sir William Beveridge, famous economist, says so. He should know. Peering into the future, he told a British Association meeting in Nottingham:

"Assuming that marriages take place at the average age the 'trough' for spinsters will arrive in 1943, and that for bachelors from 1943 onwards.

"The bachelors of 1943 will, therefore, be conscious of a shortage in the supply of spinster of the usual age—at least 50,000 short.

"Spinsters will find themselves unusually in demand."

Sir William added: "There will be a depression in all the trades affected by the making of new homes in the four or five years 'about 1945'."

The English public school is primarily and essentially an institution evolved out of the British character for turning barbarians into citizens.

It is the function of schools to teach boys and girls to avoid the inconsiderateness and selfishness of the reckless motor driver, the litter fiend, the building speculator and all who subordinate the interests of the public to momentary personal convenience or pecuniary gains.

Sir Frank Fletcher said that recently.

AMERICAN MEN

Growing Bigger Than Their Ancestors

American men, on the average, are definitely bigger and more brawny than their ancestors.

Mr. Jacob M. Franklin, president of the International Association of Clothing Designers, revealed this at the Association's annual meeting at Rochester, New York.

He gave statistics to prove to American girls that the "big men" their grandmothers praised are more prevalent now than they were 100 or even 50 years ago.

To-day, for a man five feet eight inches tall, the average suit size is 38; a quarter of a century ago size 36 would fit the average man of five feet seven inches.

Mr. Franklin attributed the growth to the fact that "boys of to-day get a chance to develop their muscles in schools" and do not have to go to work at an early age as to stunt their growth.

THE AMERICAN ATTITUDE

Japanese Bombings Unwarranted

Washington, Sept. 29. Asked to comment on the League's condemnation of the Japanese bombings of civilian populations in the different parts of China, Mr. Cordell Hull said that the United States Government, as she had repeatedly pointed out to Japan, was of the opinion that any general bombing of any extensive area where a large populace resides, engaged in peaceful pursuits, is unwarranted and contrary to the principles of law and humanity.

No reply to the American Note has been received from Tokyo and Mr. Hull denied the American press reports that Japan had assured the United States that she has no territorial ambitions in China.

ECONOMIC SANCTIONS

Mr. Hull added that if and when concrete proposals were made by the League the State Department would give them careful consideration.

Commenting on this statement, the "New York Post" says that "apparently Mr. Hull understands and is ready to join in economic sanctions against Japan if the League Powers undertake to impose them."

"The State Department has gone the full way in expressing sympathy for the Chinese, and officials of the Department make no secret of the fact that they want to impede the Japanese invasion in a more effective way. They are convinced that public opinion in the United States will now support that course despite the demands of peace societies for strict neutrality."

TUESDAY'S BERLIN SPEECHES

Berlin, Sept. 28. The vast Mayfield, near the Olympic Stadium to the west of Berlin, was crowded to-day when 500,000 men and women awaited the arrival of Adolf Hitler and his guest, Signor Mussolini, to hear the pronouncements which were to culminate the Duce's visit to the Third Reich.

As Signor Mussolini and Hitler appeared on the specially erected platform in the middle of the field, the crowd started cheering. The Minister of Propaganda, Dr. Goebbels, declared the assembly formally opened. Dr. Goebbels, in his speech said:

Altogether three million persons have come to attend this historic demonstration of the National Socialist movement.

In the name of the German people I have the honour to voice the most cordial welcome to the Duce on German soil. In the name of countless millions I voice our deep and sincere gratitude at your visit. I now declare the mass demonstration on the Mayfield in Berlin open.

HITLER'S SPEECH

Chancellor Hitler then said: We are witnessing an historic event, which in this form and on this scale has never occurred before.

What chiefly moves us at this moment is the joy of having as guest among us Signor Mussolini.

The Chancellor then reviewed the years prior to the advent of National Socialism in Germany. There had now, the Fuehrer stated, grown out of the common purpose of Fascist Italy and National Socialist Germany not only a unity of views but also a unity of actions.

But all attempts to play off one of those who now belong together against the other, or to separate them by making malicious insinuations or by casting suspicion of false aims, will be destined to failure, because of the desire for unity of 115 millions who are at this moment taking part in this magnificent demonstration.

After the Fuehrer and Chancellor had spoken, the Italian National Hymn was played, and amid applause, the Chief of the Italian Government mounted the platform, and, giving the Fascist salute, addressed the gathering in German language as follows:

"Comrades! The visit which I am making to Germany and your Fuehrer, and the speech which I am about to make, signify an important moment in the lives of our two nations, and in my own life."

In the course of his speech, Mussolini said that his visit was

WITHDRAWAL OF VOLUNTEERS FROM SPAIN ESSENTIAL

FRENCH MINISTER SPEAKS OUT AT LEAGUE ASSEMBLY

London, Sept. 29. Speaking in the 8th Committee of the League Assembly at Geneva to-day, the French Foreign Minister referred to the joint effort of the French and British Governments to bring to an end the abuses which endanger the continuance of the agreement for non-intervention in the Spanish civil war. He said that the equivocal situation, resulting from these abuses, could not be allowed to continue, and the withdrawal of foreign "volunteers" from Spain was essential. Should the negotiations now in train fail the whole situation must inevitably be submitted to a new examination.

THE MAIN OBJECT

Mr. Walter Elliot, Great Britain, recalled how the policy of non-intervention had arisen out of the danger to European peace which the Spanish civil war presented, and claimed that the main object for which the policy accepted by the British, French and other governments had been achieved. War had not spread and the great disaster of a local war had not become the even greater disaster of a general war, but he added the warning that if breaches of agreement were intensified from any quarter, the policy itself might be doomed.

NYON AGREEMENT

Speaking of the Nyon Arrangement he is reported as saying that it had undoubtedly exercised a stabilising influence in the international situation. "It may be that we are entering upon a better phase in international affairs—a phase which should have its reflection in the sphere of non-intervention. We believe indeed at the present moment the Mediterranean situation is easier than it had been for some time. We are now using our best endeavours to ensure that the present improvement is consolidated and used as the basis for further progress. This task is not a light one and is at present being actively pushed forward."

BUSY DAY FOR MUSSOLINI

Berlin, Sept. 28. Wednesday—Mussolini's last day in Berlin—will again be a busy day for him.

At 10.30 a.m., accompanied by Count Ciano, Mussolini will lay a wreath at the Grave of the Unknown Soldier in the Memorial Unter den Linden, after which he will attend, with Chancellor Hitler, what is described as the biggest parade ever witnessed in Berlin since the war, when 50,000 men, representing the three defence forces will parade before the two statesmen in the Tiergarten in the neighbourhood of the Technical Academy. At the close of the parade, Mussolini will be Hitler's guest at a luncheon, when the final political conversation will take place. All other Italian guests will lunch with the Fuehrer's deputy, Minister Rudolf Hess.

Later on the Fuehrer will drive with Mussolini to the Lehrter Railway station, from which the Duce will leave by special train for Italy. It is announced that Reichs Minister Rudolf Hess will accompany Mussolini as far as the Austro-German frontier.

Transocean News Service.

not to be judged by the usual standard of diplomatic visits. That he was now visiting Germany did not mean that he would continue his journey to some other country. The question anxiously put by the world, whether the outcome of his conversations with the Fuehrer would be peace or war, could be loudly answered by both of them in one word, "Peace."

It was a fact, Mussolini stated, that both the Fascist and the National Socialist revolution had changed the countenance of the respective countries. And to see this changed countenance was the purpose of his visit to Germany. What he had seen had inspired him with a belief that Germany was justified in her pride.

Mussolini stated that Italy had a great debt of gratitude towards Germany, for when 52 nations assembled at Geneva, decided to impose "criminal sanctions" against Italy, Germany, despite all the pressure brought to bear upon her, did not join them.

MERCHANT NAVY DEFENCE

Under the new scheme of defence courses for officers of the Merchant Navy, naval officers have now been appointed for service at the principal mercantile ports. They are known as Merchant Navy defence instructional officers. The object of the scheme is to give officers of merchant ships instruction in the methods and equipment necessary for the defence of their ships in the event of war, so that there may be no delay in the adoption of defence measures.

The instructional officers are Lieutenant Commanders T. H. Dickson, late in command of the submarine Otway (Cardiff); R. A. Carsidi, from the command of minesweepers in reserve at the Nore (Glasgow); William Irpe, late of H.M.S. Harebell, fishery patrol sloop (Hull); C. B. ROYAL AIR FORCE

FLYING-BOAT SQUADRONS RENAMED

A new list of the titles of squadrons which appears in Air Ministry Orders indicates that the flying-boat squadrons are being renamed. They will in future be called general reconnaissance squadrons of Avro Anson twin-engined, land-planes which have been formed under the expansion scheme.

The term flying-boat squadrons was adopted on January 1, 1929, until which date the flying-boats had been organized in flights. No. 430 (Coastal Reconnaissance) Flight, Calshot, became No. 201 (Flying-boat) Squadron; No. 431 (Coastal Reconnaissance) Flight, Malta, No. 202 (Flying-boat) Squadron, and so on. The units will apparently retain the same numerals as hitherto; No. 201, for example, becoming No. 201 (General Reconnaissance) Squadron with the abbreviated title "201 (G.R.) Sqn." The flying-boat units at present in service are Nos. 201, Calshot; 202, Malta; 203, Basra; 204, Mount Batten; 205 and 230, Singapore; 209, Felixstowe; 210 and 228, Pembroke; and 240, Calshot.

Boyle, who has taken up this post from September 1, entered the college in September, 1922, and on passing out two years later served with fighter and Army co-operation squadrons at home and in Iraq. He qualified as an instructor in 1927, attaining A1 category, and served as such at the Central Flying School, the R.A.F. College, and with No. 601 (County of London) Squadron of the Auxiliary Air Force at Hendon. In 1933-35 he was on personnel staff duties in India, returning for the Staff College course. During the past year he has commanded No. 33 (Bomber) Squadron at Turnhouse.

Consequent on his promotion in the August list, Squadron Leader J. H. Pool has been appointed for duty at the R.A.F. Station, Cranwell. Entering with a short-service commission in January, 1926, he received a permanent commission in September, 1930, after being selected to specialize in engineering. He has served in India, and for the past two years on flying duties at the Home Aircraft Depot, Henlow.

WEDDING BELLS

Shea-Willis

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in Christ Church Kowloon yesterday, when Miss Mabel Helen Willis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Willis, became the bride of Mr. Edward Francis Shea, secretary to the General Agent, Passenger Department, Canadian Pacific Steamship Company.

The Rev. L. L. Nash, Chaplain of the Diocesan Boys' School, officiated in the ceremony, whilst Mr. E. A. Lee discharged the duties of best man.

The bride was given away by her father and was attended by Miss Violet Alison Shea, sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaid. She was attractively attired in a blue organdie gown.

The bride looked charming in a beautifully designed gown of white French lace, a creation by Mariene, and carried a pretty bouquet of white tuber roses.

Misses Joyce and Eileen Peters, nieces of the bridegroom, were flower girls, each dressed in a peach organdie gown and carrying a bouquet of gladioli. Master Noel Peters, nephew of the bridegroom, was the Page Boy.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the St. Andrew's Church Hall, where many friends gathered to toast the health and happiness of the newly-married couple.

The going-away costume of the bride was of pink nylon, with hat to match.

The couple will spend their honeymoon in Manila, P.I.

EXTENSION OF COLONY'S WATERWORKS

CENTRAL MARKET

A further $211,000 will, however, be needed to complete the Central Market and it is proposed to include this in the schedule of works to be met from a future loan which I will explain further in a moment. Should savings after all be made on the present estimates for the Gorge Dam or other still uncompleted works in the 1934 Loan Schedule, they can of course be made available for the Central Market.

Before leaving the 1934 Loan I would draw attention to the fact that less than the original estimate is expected to be spent this year under Airport—Wireless Telegraph Station, Head 6(c) because the cost of a new building originally intended to be met from this course will be met from F.W.E. The loan funds so saved will be available in 1938 for the purchase of transmitter apparatus for the Airport.

WATER-WORKS EXTENSION

There remain the works to be met from a future loan. The most important of these are the further water-works already approved in principle by Council. They are estimated to cost $3,165,000. I do not think I need argue at length as to the justification of charging these essentially revenue-producing works to loan.

It is always better to meet any expenditure out of revenue if it can be done but if the revenue is not there it is entirely proper to meet this kind of expenditure out of loan. The procedure it is proposed to adopt, following previous practice, does in fact leave it still open to us to pay for these works out of revenue if a turn of fortune again places the Colony in possession of large revenue surpluses. No actual loan will be raised immediately, the works being financed by advances from our surplus balances so long as they remain available.

LOAN POSITION

The loan will be raised if and when it becomes necessary to replenish the Treasury's liquid cash by repaying those advances. Before that, however, arrangements would be made for repaying the advances against the 1934 Loan, which by the end of 1938 will be about $11,000,000.

It is not at present necessary to raise any more of the 1934 Loan to place the Treasury in funds but the cash position is continuously under review and the question of raising a further instalment of the Loan in 1938 will be kept in mind.

I now turn to the Resolutions themselves. It is necessary to have so many because the Council must authorise (1) the re-allocation of the Schedule to the Dollar Loan Ordinance;

FURTHER WORKS

(ii) the revised estimate of the advances necessary in 1937 to meet expenditure on the Gorge Dam;

(iii) the advances to be made in 1938 to meet the remaining expenditure on works in the 1934 Loan Schedule;

(iv) the undertaking of further works to be met temporarily by advances from surplus balances against a loan to be authorised later and the amounts to be advanced in 1937 and 1938 respectively.

The principle underlying these resolutions has already received the approval of the Unofficial Members of this Council, and, unless any Hon. Member desires a postponement for their consideration in detail, there seems no reason why they should not now be put to the Council. Such a course seems to Government to be preferable to awaiting the next meeting of Council at which the second reading of the Finance Bill is to be taken.

HEAVY ATTACK ON FRANC

Activity On London Market

London, Sept. 29. Encouraged by rumours from Paris, international speculators staged a heavy attack against forward purchases of the franc which is now quoted at a discount of six francs for one month and eleven francs for three months as compared with four and eight francs respectively last night.

Business is not heavy as the French banks are observing the request and sellers have been compelled to push out rates in order to attract business.

Some speculators, however, are unwilling to renew the existing positions at the present on the heavy discounts on purchasing spot francs thereby supplying French control with foreign devisen.

Many well-informed people are wondering whether French control, by making forward sales of the franc so expensive, hope to force a wholesale bear-covering.—Reuter.

HITLER AND MUSSOLINI

Warm Welcome At Monster Rally

Berlin, Sept. 28. Welcoming Signor Benito Mussolini at a monster rally in the Olympic Stadium, Dr. Josef Goebbels announced that a million people were present in the Stadium and adjacent squares, and another two millions lined the road leading to the Stadium.

An immense roar of "Heil Hitler" greeted the dictators. Herr Adolf Hitler, who spoke first said: "The deepest meaning of this demonstration is the sincere desire and guarantee of our countries for that peace which is not the reward of cowardice, but the result of securing with a sense of responsibility our racial, spiritual, physical and cultural substance and values to serve interests which are reaching beyond our two peoples, which should really be the interests of the whole of Europe."

BITTER TESTS

Describing the terrible trials through which Germany had passed before National-Socialism had restored to the German people those general rights of mankind which they had been refused for a decade and a half, Herr Hitler said: "During that time of most bitter tests—I must say this before the German people and the entire world—Italy did not take part in those humiliations."

He went on to say that the two autocratic national regimes were united at a time when the ideals of a democratic Marxist International could only show every demonstration of hatred and disunion.

He concluded by saying that every attempt for separating such a community of peoples by playing them one against the other, by causing suspicions, or by misconstruing aims, "will fail at the wish of those who form this demonstration of community, as well as at the will of the two men who stand before you."

DUCE SPEAKS IN GERMAN
Signor Mussolini, speaking in German, declared that nothing had been concocted during his conversations with Herr Hitler which would drive the wedge still further into an already divided Europe.

"We desire peace," he said, "and we will always be ready to work for peace." In aims as in outlook, Germany and Italy had pushed towards the same goal in the sphere of economic autocracy. Without economic independence, political independence was doubtful.

Referring to the "criminal sanctions against Italy," Mussolini said that was a point where for the first time the existence of necessary co-operation between Germany and Italy became clearly apparent. There were, he said, no dictatorships in either Germany or Italy, but forces and organisations existed in those countries which served the people.

This community of ideas in Germany and Italy was to be found at present in their fight against Bolshevism. Fascism fought Bolshevism with words, and when words were ineffective, with arms. "This is what we have done in Spain where thousands of Italian volunteers have fallen for the

CALL TO CIVILISED WORLD TO STOP WAR

Important Meeting In London Next Week

ARCHBISHOP TO PRESIDE

London, Sept. 29. The Archbishop of Canterbury (Most Rev Cosmo Gordon Lang) is to preside at a meeting to be held in the Albert Hall on October 5, called by the "News Chronicle" to protest against the Japanese war on civilians in China and to urge the British Government to call the civilised world to concert measures to stop the war.

The "Times" Parliamentary correspondent in forecasting a full-dress debate on foreign affairs directly after Parliament re-assembles, says that the Labour Party are now more concerned with the position in China than the European situation.

"No doubt in the present temper of the legislators there will be the strongest support for the idea of an economic boycott of Japan," the correspondent says.

Mr. J. M. Keynes, Secretary of the Royal Economic Society, in a letter to the "Times" urges that it is the duty of the British Empire and the United States and all other nations represented at Geneva to warn Japan that they will sever all trade relations with her unless she mends her ways. There would be at least nine out of ten chances that such a threat would be effective. If the United States decline, writes Mr. Keynes, we could not help it but we cannot escape blame unless we take the initiative to positive action.

The "Manchester Guardian" comments that the organisation of voluntary boycotts in Britain and the United States is a remarkable demonstration of the popular feeling and such feeling in democratic countries cannot be despised. Even if Japan were to conduct the war according to the rules of humanity, says the paper, she cannot make the war more justifiable or less criminal. The League Powers had done well to condemn her bombing but it does not mean that responsibility has ended with the passing of one resolution.

CHINESE LOANS RECOVER
Yesterday's marked recovery in Chinese loans is generally regarded as reflecting world sympathy with China. The "Financial News" attributes it to the "continued demand in the market for short stock." Reuter understands that despite marking down actual selling of Chinese loans were small to-day. Senior stocks were firm though railways were not favoured.

RUSSIA UNLIKELY TO JOIN IN WAR

The "Times" in a leader on Russia's attitude says it does not think the Soviet is likely to join in the war as it pays her better to watch Japan weakening herself by floundering ever deeper in China and believes that Russia will help

China with arms, large consignments of which can reach Sianfu by lorry in two or three weeks.

The Chinese forces operating on the Mongol border could be supplied in a few days via Outer Mongolia where strategic roads run down from the Trans-Siberian Railway. To drive a wedge between Russia and China, Japan must police something like a thousand miles of large desert country and this she is never likely to be in a position to do," says the paper.

MASS MEETINGS
On the initiative of Pandit Nehru an "All-India China Day" will shortly be held with mass meetings in Calcutta, Bombay, Madras and Rangoon. Resolutions will be passed expressing determination to support China for fear that Japanese victory may mean the invasion of India, and urging boycott of Japanese goods.—Reuter.

K-C. RAILWAY NOT BOMBED

CANTON UNDERGOES THREE RAIDS

Another Alarm Last Night

Canton, Sept. 29. There were three raids by Japanese planes over Canton to-day and all of them seem to have been directed over Whampoa where the raiders circled and recircled. It is surmised that they were photographing as well as looting off a number of bombs. The extent of the damage is unknown. The sound of activities to the east of Canton, were clearly audible in Shamoen.

A foreign railway official informed Reuter's correspondent that the Kowloon-Canton Railway Line had not been bombed throughout the present hostilities and recent reports to the contrary were incorrect.

The Chinese claim that three Japanese planes were shot down by Chinese planes during the past two days.

The air raid alarm was sounded at 7.10 p.m. and Canton was once again plunged into darkness but the all-clear signal was sounded at 8.15 p.m. without anything untoward happening.—Reuter.

BUYING AT A LOW EBB

Metal Exchange Market

London, Sept. 29. With buying interest at present at the lowest ebb, there was little resistance offered on the London Metal Exchange to-day when the "Bears" took the bit between their teeth and staged a heavy attack against all the four base metals.

Well-informed quarters opine that copper is the spearhead of the attack owing to the fact that the recent reduction of the United States domestic price did not result in any expansion of sales in that country, and there is a growing belief that further reduction of American price may be necessary in order to stimulate demand.

On the other hand some take the rather alarming view of the level to which sales of domestic copper in the United States had recently fallen, opining that this may portend the trend of American industrial activity in which any falling off could not be other than bearish for base metals generally.—Reuter.

JAPANESE FEAR ATTACK

From Chinese In Pootung

Shanghai, Sept. 29 (11.15 p.m.). Although fierce fighting raged on all fronts to-day with the Japanese planes and warships playing an important part in the shelling and bombardment of the Chinese positions, Japanese infantrymen have not started any general advance inland for fear of being heavily shelled from the rear by Chinese artillery in the Pootung sector.

It is believed that the Japanese have not abandoned their plan to land on the Pootung side despite the heavy losses made in the repeated attempts during the last months. During the heavy bombardment from the air to-day the Japanese were unable to silence the Chinese guns and machine-guns raked the warships along the river harassing the Japanese considerably.

The Japanese marines tried twice to-day to land on the Pootung side but were repulsed.

On the Lihong front the Chinese are still holding firm to their positions. A small Japanese unit attempted to rush the Chinese on Hual Highway last night but were repulsed.—Central News.

PREPARED TO MODIFY TARIFFS

London, Sept. 29. Lieut-Col. John Colville, Financial Secretary to the Treasury, stated that the United Kingdom was prepared to modify tariffs against other nations but if further reduction was desired it must be reciprocal. He added that Britain will not prohibit the export of raw materials to other countries from the Colonies and will not raise the export duties on British goods.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

JAPANESE FAIL

To Dislodge Chinese In Chapei

Shanghai, Sept. 29. Despite the severe 5-hour bombardment of Chapei, which in many ways dwarfed the attack in 1932, by scores of Japanese planes from 7 o'clock this morning till noon, the Chinese are still holding firm to their original positions. Chinese military headquarters announced late to-day.

The Japanese were obviously trying to dislodge the troops along Paoshan Road in the vicinity of the Oriental Library building which is nothing but a mass of ruins. Most of the bombs fell on West Paoshan Road, doing little damage to the already-damaged territory.

Hot fire from the Chinese anti-aircraft guns kept the Japanese at a distance, thus counting for the poor marksmanship of the airmen.—Central News.

St. Andrew's, Sept. 29. The Duke of Kent, to-day went through the traditional rule of playing himself into office as Captain of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club by driving the ball from the first tee. His Royal Highness was accompanied by the Home Secretary, Sir John Simon, the retiring Captain. After the stroke was played a brass cannon was fired announcing that the new Captain had played himself in. The caddy who recovered the ball was congratulated by the Duke who handed him a golden sovereign.

Look at Your Skin

Skin Specialists declare that 80 out of every 100 women suffer from skin outbreaks, spots, pimples, blotches, and 'muddy' complexions UNNECESSARILY!

Ugly complexion faults are woman's most common enemy. Few escape. Some resort to heavy powdering in an effort to hide them. Whilst others, due to consistent wrong treatment, cause the skin to become highly sensitive, coarse and blemished. To make your skin clear and healthy, your complexion fresh and smooth, use Cuticura.

Cleanse the skin with Cuticura Soap twice a day. Its luxuriant and milky antiseptic lather is soothing and softening; washes away pore-deep dirt which causes blackheads, enlarged pores and ugly complexion defects. And to rid the skin of pimples, skin outbreaks, rashes or irritations use Cuticura Ointment directed on the affected part before washing with the soap. Its antiseptic action kills germs, soothes and heals and quickly clears the skin.

Try Cuticura to-day. See how soon your skin improves, your complexion becomes smoother, more attractive than ever before.

VERONICA THIRLWELL RETAINS CHAMPIONSHIP TITLE

Wins One Hundred Yards Free Style In 74 Seconds

NO ENTRIES FOR HALF MILE: UNIVERSITY AGAIN WIN RELAY

Miss Veronica Thirlwell retained her title when she won the 100 yards free style Ladies' Championship of the Colony at the Victoria Recreation Club pool yesterday evening, the second day of the Annual Championships.

Miss Thirlwell won in the time of 74 seconds thus bettering her effort of last year by one and two-fifths seconds. Second place went to Miss Doris Hunt, her time being 80 3/5 seconds which was also an improvement on her effort of last year when she was third and her time 82 4/5 seconds. Miss A. Thirlwell was third.

It was a splendid race but there was never any doubt as to the winner.

The last event on yesterday's programme, the Open 200 Yards Relay Race, brought entries from the Hong Kong University, South China A.A. and the V.R.C. The University (holders) retained the title.

H. L. Ozorio, going in first, gave the 'Varsity' a good lead which was maintained throughout. The Chinese team and the V.R.C. fought hard for second place and it was not until Stanley Lee, diving in number three for South China, that the Chinese quartette nosed in for the verdict.

R.G.L. Oliphant won the 100 Yards Breaststroke Junior Championship of the V.R.C., while C. Nolasco da Silva, a much improved swimmer, carried off the title in the 220 yards free style Junior Championship of the V.R.C.

Detailed results were as follows: 100 yards Breaststroke (Junior Championship of the V.R.C.):—R.G.L. Oliphant; Time, 87 1/5 secs. 880 yards free style (Championship of the Colony):—

No entries. 50 yards free style (boys):—Finalists:—L. Viera; D. Choa; T. Lopes; G. Gosano; Eric Ho; S. Carvalho; T. Bayot.

100 yards free style Ladies' Championship of the Colony:—1. Miss Veronica Thirlwell; 2. Miss Doris Hunt; 3. Miss A. Thirlwell. Time, 74 secs.

220 yards free style (Junior Championship of the V.R.C.):—1. C. Nolasco da Silva; 2. L. M. Remedios; 3. J. de Souza; Time, 2 m. 53 3/5 secs.

200 yards Relay (Open to the Colony):—1. Hong Kong University (H. L. Ozorio, Lau Po-hei, Wong Yat-hung and L. Oliveira); 2. South China A.A. (T. Kew, Kwok Hoh-ming, Stanley Lee and Norman Lee); 3. Victoria R.C. (C. Nolasco da Silva, A.A. da Rosa, L. M. Remedios and L. Soares).

H.K. LADIES' HOCKEY ASSOCIATION

Annual Report

SOUND FINANCIAL POSITION

The Hong Kong Ladies' Hockey Association report and statement of accounts for the season ending September, 30, 1937, states:—

During the year under review five teams competed in the Senior League, the "Y" Ladies winning the Czer Clark Cup for the first time and the Hong Kong Ladies the Southern Cup for the second year in succession. In the Junior League eight teams competed and the Central British School "A" team are to be congratulated on winning the Brawn Cup, the Royal Ulster Rifles, Ladies Hockey team winning a Cup kindly presented by Messrs. Mamak and Co., for the runners-up in this league.

The annual Seven-a-side Tournament was held on the Central British School ground—the Hong Kong Ladies winning the Pearce Cup and St. Andrew's the Knill Cup.

The Shanghai Ladies' Hockey Association sent a team down at Chinese New Year and for the first time the Interport match was played in good weather. After 20 minutes extra time the match resulted in a draw—both teams playing extremely well. The Association are very grateful to the Hong Kong Football Club for so kindly granting us the use of their ground on this occasion.

The Rest of Hong Kong beat the Shanghai team by 3 goals to 1 and Shanghai drew with the League Champions, the "Y" Ladies.

In the Junior League Champions v. The Rest match the result was a win for The Rest by 2 nil and in the Senior League Champions v. The Rest, The Rest won by 1 nil. Both these matches were played on the same day and at the conclusion Mrs. T. E. Pearce presented the Cups to the winning teams.

For the purpose of raising funds for Interport expenses a Mah Jongg Drive was held last November and also during the Season a case of Beer and Rolex watch were raffled. As will be seen from the Statement of Accounts the finances of the Association are in a sound condition.

The fourth annual general meeting of the Association will be held at Gloucester Building, top floor lounge, on Thursday, October, 7, at 5.15 p.m.

THE MUTINY AT INVERGORDON

"The Mutiny at Invergordon," by Lieutenant Commander Kenneth Edwards, R.N. Retired, will be published by Putnam's at the end of September. The facts have been collected from eye-witnesses and high naval authorities and the book will constitute the first complete and authoritative account of events which have altered the course of history.

FEWER PASSENGERS FROM CANTON

The passenger traffic from Canton to Kowloon by train has again dropped to about 1,200 per train. Major Walker, the General Manager of the K.C.R. told the "Daily Press."

Major Walker added that according to information he had received from Canton, the damage to the Canton-Hankow Railway station during Monday's bombing was of a minor nature.

PLANE OVER SHIPS

Steamers arriving in Hong Kong continue to tell stories of attention paid to them by aircraft on the high seas.

A large seaplane with red, white and blue markings is said to have circled over the British steamer Lyncemore when she was between 150 and 200 miles off Hong Kong. The plane then made off in the direction of a Norwegian ship some miles away and circled that several times before leaving.

Japanese Government In Confusion

navy in the Cabinet; and it is a common occurrence for the Cabinet in office to collapse merely because the warlords withheld their help. The Cabinet in Japan is but a committee for handling civil affairs, while the command of the Army and the Navy is out of its pale. As an intermediary between the Emperor and the Legislature, the Japanese Cabinet also governs in a half-hearted way.

THE PRIVY COUNCIL

Another department exerting influence to shape the decision and policy of the Japanese Emperor thus forming one of the various governments in Japan is the Privy Council. Comprising experts in politics appointed by the Emperor on the recommendation of the elder statesmen and attended by all the ministers in the Cabinet, it advises the Emperor in all matters of importance. Especially in times of national emergency, or when the Diet happens to be dissolved, it advises the Emperor promptly. As it is not responsible for its own advice, and it is free from the censure of public opinion by reason of its secret and confidential procedure, it is not held accountable for the consequences of its ill-counsel. It is specially privileged to thwart the Diet, while the House of Peers has to court its favour to keep the recalcitrant cabinet in check. In a way it resembles the British Privy Council as a consultative body to the Crown, yet in essence it remains a super-cabinet to the Diet.

In selecting his Cabinet, if the Emperor falls short of the omnipotent ideal thus attributed, he may fall back on his elder statesmen for recommendation.
These elder statesmen, either by virtue of their honourable contribution towards the Meiji Reform or by their long and memorable service in the Government, have to be consulted in forming the Cabinet. As they were very few in number, the only surviving political veteran in Japan is Prince Saionji. Whenever he submits his recommendations to the Emperor, they are bound to be accepted. So far, no Cabinet has been established without consultation with him.

In view of the fact that there is only one elder statesman in existence, the method of choosing the Cabinet may in all probability be replaced by a new system more logical and efficient. But as long as Prince Saionji still draws his last breath, the system will be left intact. In spite of his supreme power, Prince Saionji has to give due respect to the attitude of the militarists when he makes the final choice. So the standing and influence of the Japanese militarists should be worthy of a careful study.

DEEP-ROOTED DOMINATION

Apart from the deep-rooted domination of the warlords, the rule of militarism still characterizes the present Japanese Government. The Japanese constitution explicitly lays down that there should be a separation of power between the military leaders and the Cabinet Ministers.
The Ministers of War and the Navy are outside the control of the Premier, while their initiatives of appropriation should be passed by the Diet without the least delay. Whenever they want money, the Cabinet, in conjunction with the Diet, should raise funds to their full satisfaction. Any military command if occasioned by national emergency may set aside any statute of the Diet. Both the Ministers of War and the Navy possess the privilege of addressing the Emperor directly without securing the consent of the Prime Minister. Under the Japanese military system, the power of military affairs is sharply distinguished from the power of military command. The former is in the charge of the Ministers of War and the Navy, the latter is the business of the Chief of the General Staff and Commander-in-Chief of the Navy. Strictly speaking, the power of the military command, which is concerned with mobilization and tactics in times of war, is decidedly higher than the power of military affairs which only relates to the scheme of organization and military routine. On the top of these is the Military Council. It advises the Emperor in military affairs in just the same way as the Privy Council counsels the Emperor in political affairs. Besides, it is the court at which any dispute between the militarists is settled.
The old Marshals who have rendered excellent services to the Emperor are defied in the House of Generalissimo. Though they have never played such a prominent part as the elder statesmen in influencing the politics of the country, their advice is earnestly sought when Japan indulges in an aggressive war. The Military Council and the House of Generalissimo together with the high military officials are the most loyal and faithful servants of the Mikado. Living behind the shield that they are only responsible to the Emperor, they seek to undo what the Japanese statesmen have for decades laboured for Japanese constitutionalism. On the pretext of promoting the prestige of the great Japanese Empire, they turn to colonial expansion and territorial annexation.

Whether they pursue the aggressive policies in the enhancement of their Majesty's honour, or for their own sake, is still an open question. Nominally all the great powers are supposed to be embodied in the Emperor; actually, they are taken over by the militarists. In their eyes, democracy is a farce, parliament is but their bursar. When the time was not yet ripe for them to have their own way, they made use of the political parties for their illegal purposes. Now they are full-fledged, they find it more expedient to turn them out. As a step further, they are planning to set up the Japanese dictatorship to the neglect of the sovereign power of the Japanese people. If there is such a thing called the Super-government in Japan, the Japanese militarists should be given the first claim to be rank and file of it.

TOO MANY PARTIES

To the lay-mind Japan is at present under a unified Government with its parliament, Cabinet, and political parties—a full-grown democracy to be emulated only by Great Britain and France; while in the eyes of the student of government, the Japanese people are suffering from a great number of governments each of which is struggling for its own supremacy in perennial internecine. The great assassination of high political leaders by the military men in Tokyo two years ago signifies that the power of the militarists are still on the ascendancy. The present Sino-Japanese War is but the outcome of the decision by the Japanese Warlords that the policy of military aggression will ensure a greater success than economic exploitation, the usual panacea held by the Japanese statesmen to cripple China slowly yet quite effectually.

"INDOMITABLE COURAGE"

Cornwall Decoration
For Crippled Boy Scout

A 16-year-old Boy Scout, crippled in every limb since birth, has been awarded the Cornwall Scout Decoration, the highest Boy Scout award, for his indomitable courage in the face of great suffering.

He is Scout William Monksfield of the 14th Epping Forest (1st Highams Park) Group, attached to Brookfield Orthopaedic Hospital.

The boy has spent all his life in hospitals but is now able, with the aid of crutches, to walk a little.

The honour badge, a little bronze "C," which was established in memory of John Travers Cornwall, the boy hero of Jutland, will be presented to Monksfield in hospital. The "C" not only stands for Cornwall, but also for "courage, capability and character."

ABLE TO DO HANDIWORK

Monksfield was transferred to Brookfield Hospital from Queen's Hospital in 1931. He was then nine years of age, but could not read or write, having had no education at all.

At that time it was impossible for him to hold a pencil, owing to the crippled state of his hands.
His attendance at the Brookfield Hospital School has brought him to a fair educational level. In spite of his terrible handicap, he has been able to do some good handiwork.

It still takes him three days to write a letter—but he does it.
He is described as a "grand example of the Scout movement" and in spite of his deformity, always manages to look smart in his Scout uniform.

PRESIDENT
ROOSEVELT'S
ANCESTRY

Descendant
Of Swedish
Army Officer

President Roosevelt is a direct descendant of a Swedish army officer, named Martin, who was born 312 years ago in Revel, now Tallinn, present capital of Estonia.
Inquiries in Estonia and at the public library here have revealed.

It was the President's great-great-grandfather who married a descendant of the Swedish soldier.

Resigning his commission in the Swedish army when still a young man, Martin Hoffman went to Holland, and in 1657 at the age of 32 crossed the Atlantic to make his home in New York State.

Some years earlier a Dutchman named Claes Martensen Van Ro-senvelt had migrated to America.

The children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of Claes and Martin pursued their lives as British subjects in the colony of New York. In 1752 Isaac Roosevelt, great-grandson of Claes van Rosenvelt, married Cornelia Hoffman, great granddaughter of Martin Hoffman. Franklin D.
Roosevelt, now President of the United States, is the great-great-grandson of Isaac Roosevelt and his wife.

HOFFMAN AS COLONIST

Though born in Revel, Martin Hoffman was Swedish. His father served as a cavalry officer in the army of Gustavus Adolphus and migrated to Revel with a group of fellow Swedes.

In America Martin Hoffman
eventually settled at Kingstowne, the present small city of Kingston,
New York, and was granted some land there in the name of James II.

He served in the local militia, rising to high rank and successfully repelling hostile Indian tribes from time to time. One such adventure cost him a rebuke from His Majesty's Government but earned him the gratitude of the local citizenry.

Hoffman conducted a saddler's business. He also owned a small trading vessel, and appears to have indulged in numerous ventures of various sorts. Among his properties were 10 negro slaves.

There was no issue of Martin Hoffman's first marriage, but his second wife bore him five children

THREE MORE ISLANDS FOR BRITAIN

Aviation In The Pacific

NEW BASES FOR REFUELLING

Events of considerable importance to the Empire and British aviation have taken place recently in the Pacific.

The cruiser Leander, it is understood, recently sent landing parties ashore to the small islands of Henderson, Ducie and Oeno, to the north of Pitcairn, and hoisted the Union Jack.

These small uninhabited islands, almost midway between New Zealand and South America, might well play an important part in British air development and defence in the Southern Seas.

While no official report has yet been received from the Leander, the news of annexation is welcomed and accepted as correct in aviation circles.

Trans-Pacific which yearly becomes of more moment, would hardly be possible were it not for the little coral islands with their smooth lagoons—ideal landing places—which dot the map.

The Pan-American Pacific services, for instance, depend upon the chain of islands which in recent years have been annexed in the name of the United States.

Tiny islets which a few years ago possessed no significance, and were, indeed, regarded as nuisances by the countries owning them, have now assumed great importance as potential wireless stations and refuelling bases for aircraft.

BAD BARGAINS

Their vast new significance is now thoroughly appreciated, and Britain must regret bad bargains she made in the first quarter of this century when she bartered away several of these points. Greater regard is likely to be paid in future to what have been regarded as "useless" fragments of our far-flung Empire.

In this search for potential air bases and strong points, born of the new strategy that has inevitably come with air development, most of the Powers are taking their part. In the Far North, Russia is obviously intent on staking her claim.

In the South, and particularly in the Pacific, the United States, Britain, and France are taking hands in the game. Bahrain was established as a British base just two years ago, and last year the United States claimed the Baker, Jarvis, and Howland Islands, which for years had appeared on the map as British. These, lying between Honolulu and Fiji, are regarded as of considerable importance.

FRENCH MOVE

France acquired Clipperton or Passion Island only last year, a point universally regarded as an ideal seaplane base. Continually there are "talks" between ourselves and the United States regarding the status of Christmas Island, which is 1,000 miles south of Hawaii on the route from America to Australia. The United States contest our right of ownership.

Canton Island is also claimed by Britain, and this fact has been reaffirmed as recently as the accession of the King. It possesses ample harbourage for large vessels, and is regarded as of considerable importance.

What the future of these and other small islands will be in the history of commercial flying remains to be seen, but that they are of immense potential value for other and more important reasons is obvious.

RUSSIANS FLY HIGH

New Stratosphere "Cruise"

Soviet airmen, using an Army aeroplane, recently completed a round trip from Moscow to Kharov in the sub-stratosphere. The pilots covered the distance of approximately 650 miles at a height of over 54 miles (29,527 ft.).

The flight was made in difficult meteorological conditions. Two-thirds of the distance was covered above cloud. The temperature in the course of the flight varied, but was at about 34 degrees below zero Fahrenheit.

This flight was preceded by 11 test flights at altitude ranging from 8000 to 8500 metres.

PARADE OF ITALIAN GRENADIERS

PUBLIC IDEAS ON AIR RAIDS

Home Office Gets Plenty Of Suggestions

AND LIKES THEM

The Air Raids Precautions Department of the Home Office has a clearing house for the scores of letters which come in every week from members of the general public with ideas and suggestions for combating gas attacks on the homes of England.

And every single letter is acknowledged (with thanks) and the idea passed on to one or other of the Government research stations or scientific laboratories for examination.

The public are encouraged to make suggestions, and while many of them may be impracticable or hopelessly impossible here and there the department is incorporated in the nation-wide scheme.

NEUTRALISING TANKS

One idea which has been passed on to the department is that of a reader of The Evening News, who writes: "Would it not be a good idea to get the Government to co-operate with the gas companies in the country to build neutralising tanks?"

The pipes are already there, and it would only be a matter of switching off from coal gas to such tanks. Everyone could then have a supply from their own gas fittings and could be issued with instructions on how to use them.

This is a grand idea on the face of it; the trouble is, where is the neutraliser?

An official of the Air Raids Precautions Department said to an Evening News representative: "No gas antidote to poison gas which might be dropped by raiding aircraft is known."

"It is doubtful if such a plan as that suggested would be practicable. The best method of saving a home from gas attack is by preventing gas getting in, as the department has urged for so long."

HUGE EXPENDITURE

There are various methods of keeping gas out of a home. The idea of providing every house with a supply of neutralising gas, even if such a gas were discovered, would entail a colossal expenditure. We have had hundreds of ideas of one kind and another suggesting ways and means of combating gas. All have been investigated.

"We need all the ideas the public can give us, for we would not dare to scorn any idea, no matter how fantastic it may appear to be at first."

EFFECTS OF OPIUM

THE CHINESE SMOKER

Among the many admirable reforms which the Chinese Government was attempting until rudely interrupted by the Japanese was the suppression of opium-smoking in China, a task in which, one may add, it was greatly hindered by the Japanese who profit from the trade, says the "Manchester Guardian."

To China the suppression of opium is a matter of extreme importance; it is difficult to over-estimate the deleterious effects which the habit has had on that nation since the end of the eighteenth century, when smoking first became widespread. For, quite apart from the direct effects of the drug on smokers, it is an extremely expensive habit which a poor nation cannot afford. The poor smoker in China almost invariably goes without food and other necessities in order to buy his opium.

Little reliable information exists as to the effect of opium-smoking on the general health of the nation, and for this reason some figures presented in a pamphlet written by the president of the Opium Board at Geneva and issued by the Women's International League are of interest.

RECORD SINCE 1906

The statistics, oddly enough, were compiled by a Japanese, Dr. Somel To, and concern the Island of Formosa, under Japanese rule, where a careful record of opium smokers has been kept since 1906. These figures show that in Formosa the death-rate of smokers over the age of 30 is a little more than half as high again as the death-rate among non-smokers. This high death-rate cannot be directly attributed to the drug but to the weakening effects (including poverty) of habitual smoking, but the conclusion is the same. And when one considers that in 1935 there were still 1,500,000 registered addicts in China and that this number was only a small part of the total it is easy to see what a waste of humanity is represented.

It is all the more important that foreign nations (including Britain) which have colonies or concessions in China should do everything in their power to co-operate with the Chinese authorities in opium suppression.

The Gas Light and Company have also received letters offering suggestions for poison gas protection to the Air Raids Precautions Department. All such letters are passed on

FISHING JUNK ATTACKED

Japanese Brutality
On The High Seas

Despite the fact that the Japanese naval authorities have denied the reports to the effect that they had attacked fishing fleets along the South China Coast, news received in the Colony yesterday indicates that some Japanese warships actually attacked a fishing fleet off Cheung Point on Monday evening.

The story of this further display of Japanese barbarism was told by passengers on the s.s. Kaying, who witnessed the machine-gunning of two Chinese junks by a Japanese destroyer.

A passenger on the Kaying said that when they were a couple of hours off Waglan "a Japanese destroyer approached us and signalled us to stop. The destroyer came almost alongside but we were not boarded. There were other craft on the horizon and the destroyer went off apparently to inspect them, but about dusk she came up to us again when we were about ten miles from Waglan.

SEARCHLIGHT, USED

"She again signalled us to stop and flashed her searchlight on us. There were two large fishing junks nearby and the Kaying slowly went on past the destroyer which was between us and the junks.

"As we drew ahead we heard the crackle of machine gun fire and saw the destroyer firing on the two junks.

"There was absolutely no doubt of this and there were several passengers as well as the crew who both saw and heard the firing. The Kaying continued on her way and as it was growing dark when we got past Waglan we saw no more."

BRITISH CONSUL ABOARD SHIP

Mr. J. W. O. Davidson, British Consul at Shanghai, and Mrs. Davidson, were passengers on the ship. They did not see the Japanese warship firing on the Chinese junks, however, as they were below decks at the time.

However, the whole ship was talking about the incident, Mr. Davidson related.

Mr. and Mrs. Davidson are going on leave. Mr. Davidson's post has been taken over by Mr. H. Phillips, former Consul-General at Canton.

FALSE TRADE MARKS

Fan Fook-ye, of Sun On Co., Des Voeux Road and Mrs. Li Shut-sum, manageress of the Johnston Knitting Factory, were summoned before Mr. Schofield yesterday on two counts of applying a false trade mark to woollen goods on September 1.

Mr. John Whyatt, Assistant Attorney General, conducted the case for the Crown while Mr. F.X. D'Almada represented the first defendant and Mr. M.A. da Silva was for the second defendant.

First defendant pleaded guilty to a technical offence while Mr. Silva pleaded not guilty. Preventive Officer Colledge (R.O.) testified that on Sept. 1 he went to the second defendant's shop and saw two and a half dozens of woollen underwear, bearing the trade mark of "Made in England." On Sept. 3 witness went again and found 29 further singles bearing the same mark.

The first defendant was fined $50 while the second was fined $10.

The usual Spoon and Practice Shoot which was held on the Army Ranges at Kowloon City yesterday afternoon, resulted, in the S.R. (b) series, in a well-deserved victory for Mr. Watson, Honorary Secretary of the R.N. Dockyard Rifle Club, who, in spite of the somewhat difficult conditions prevailing, made a score of 97.

Mr. Watson served during the War in the Royal Navy, and many will recollect that, at the last "Association" Prize Meeting, he took second place in the "All-Corner Aggregate," was fifth in the "Brookwood" Competition (Class X), was third in the Grand Aggregate, ninth in H.E. The Governor's Prize, second in the Second Stage Aggregate, and first in the "Stickle-down" event (Class X), in which he distinguished himself once again by making the only possible.

It will therefore be well understood that yesterday's win was a very popular one, and there is no doubt that if it were possible for more of the "non-regular" members of the Association to take part in these mid-week shoots, the serving members of H.M. Forces would find that competition would be increasingly keen.

Another feature of the shoot yesterday afternoon was, as will be seen from the results given below, that the first three competitors using the S.R. (b) rifle, were all "old-campaigners," in that each has a "scratch" handicap. In the S.R. (a) class in which only few members took part, the "handicap" spoon was won by Pte. J. Baird.

The Honorary Secretary wishes it to be made known to all would-be individual full members of the Association that, in the case of any person who joins now, his membership will be regarded as continuing until the end of 1938. In other words, his first annual subscription will hold good for approximately fifteen months. This has been the custom of the Association, ever since it was formed, and has proved to be extremely popular with those directly concerned.

CLAY-BIRD SHOOTING

Final arrangements for clay-bird shooting are rapidly being made, with the result that it is anticipated that this form of shooting will start in approximately a fortnight's time. In the same way, final details are now being settled as regards the miniature rifle-shooting branch of the Association, the first shoot of which will, it is hoped, take place in ten days' time.

The Clubhouse has now been completely redecorated, and the comparatively little damage which it sustained during the recent typhoon has been made good. The installation of a telephone in this building has, already proved to be a boon to members, particularly to those who leave the ranges, at the conclusion of the shoots, by taxi.

During the past week the 1st Bn. The Middlesex Regiment has joined the Association as an affiliated unit, thus bringing the total number of affiliated clubs and units to 14, the highest figure so far recorded.

The leading scores made yesterday afternoon are as follows:—

| S.R. (b) | | Score at 200 Yds. | | Score at 300 Yds. | | Score at 500 Yds. | | Score at 600 Yds. | | Aggregate | |
